

Jack's

Club

This place began as a continuation of a story, one that started in Jack's Library and long before, in my grandfather's library in Scotland. Jack's Club is the next chapter, where the lights dim a little lower and the nights stretch a little longer.

Just like in his library, this place is meant to feel personal. We ask you to avoid photos or videos and help preserve an atmosphere where privacy is respected and presence matters most.

Jack's Club proudly resides within the Thompson Madrid, where we share more than a taste for elegance and nostalgia. A refined sensibility and a love for culture unite us.

Enjoy the night, and cheers.
